Biography

András Danis
Assistant Professor of Finance
Scheller College of Business, Georgia Institute of Technology

Dr. Danis received his PhD in 2012 from WU Vienna University of Economics and Business, Austria. He pursued his undergraduate studies at the University of Vienna, where he received a degree in Social and Economic Sciences in 2007. His current research topics are the effects of credit derivatives on debt restructuring and on corporate investment. This is particularly relevant in light of the recent financial crisis, and the following policy discussion on the regulation of financial markets and credit derivatives. He is also working on research questions about the optimal capital structure of firms, shareholder activism, and the effect of financial distress on innovation and entrepreneurship. Dr. Danis teaches Corporate Finance at the graduate and the undergraduate levels. He has a paper recently published in the Journal of Financial Economics.