Eating is good.

Please join us next Tuesday, October 27 for the annual IMBA Cultural Potluck. This is the perfect opportunity to prepare and share a dish from your culture or just one that you love (yes, Bojangles IS acceptable). If you can’t/don’t want to make something, please bring $5.

Newsletter & IMBA Happenings

In case you are getting bored and have a surplus of free time on your hands, here’s a boatload of events to keep you busy:

- Happy Hour this Friday will be at Dr. Rocco’s. Does it really matter what the drink specials are?
- Gamecock Football is back at home to battle Vanderbilt on Saturday. A little low country boil is on the tailgate menu, courtesy of Messrs Stone and Bechtel.
- The Wine Society will be learning about Spanish and Chilean vino on Monday.
- The Monster’s Ball is on for Saturday, October 31. Tickets are available NOW. Cost is $25. This means you have exactly 10 days to throw together a costume because you will not want to miss this!
- And just around the corner is the IMBA celebration of Diwali on November 13. More information to come.

For newsletter comments and questions, contact Kelly Truesdale or Erin Smith.