PARTAY.
The Holiday Party will be held tonight, December 3 at the EdVenture Children’s Museum. The festivities will be from 7-11pm and include eats, drinks, and all the other usual goodness. For $10, you’ll spend less than you will out and about. It’s not too late-same price at the door!

News Letter & IMBA Happenings

It’s here. December is finally here. This means Holiday Gala Extravaganza, finals, and of course a well-deserved hiatus from studies. With that, please enjoy the following:

‘Twas the weeks before break, when all through the school, not a student was resting, not one tired fool; the papers were progressing, written with care, in hopes that for once, the GPA would be spared; the students were nestled all snug in the Grad Lounge, hoping one last bit of motivation could be scrounged; and the girls in their frocks and the boys in their suits, all went to the Holiday Party with wine and food and dancing to boot;

As the semester ends and rolls out of sight, happy vacation to all and to all a good night! Enjoy your time off!

Also, in case you haven’t heard, Delta/Air Tran/Virgin flights are offering free in-flight internet through Jan 2!

Finally

Time to curl up for a long winter’s nap.

All I want for Christmas is a website.

T-SHIRTS

If you ordered one of the coveted IMBA t-shirts, they have arrived! Stop by the Grad Lounge today to pick yours up. Don’t forget your $8 check made out to the “IMBA Student Association.” Think of it as an early Christmas present. That you bought for yourself.

For newsletter comments and questions, contact Erin Smith @ erin.smith@imba.moore.sc.edu.